WHY EXHIBIT

An educational conference, the annual meeting of The British Association of Dermatologists is a great opportunity to meet with key decision makers and be visibly present at the largest UK dermatology conference.

FORMAT

We are delighted to be returning to a physical in person meeting, but also wish to retain the benefits that delegates have experienced with the virtual meetings. The plan is that the educational content of the meeting will be available on a virtual platform (as per the 2020 & 2021 meetings) post conference for a 6 month duration. The Virtual platform will be sold as a post-meeting registration option separately.

Please note the added ROI that we would like to offer to our Exhibitors and Sponsors:

- Virtual Platform Directory – All exhibitors booking a physical stand will be given a FREE directory entry on the virtual Post-meeting platform.
- Sponsored Symposia – All in person sponsored symposia will have the option to have their content captured and available for 6 months on the virtual platform.
- Virtual Sponsored Symposia – there will be opportunities for companies to submit proposals for virtual only sponsored symposia.

THINK GREEN

In an effort to make the return to physical meetings as environmental as possible we are implementing the following measures:

- Reduction in printed material, incl no printed programme
- Review of catering, including vegetarian lunch option only
- Suggested request for overseas speakers to present remotely or send a pre-recorded (please notify us if you wish to have speakers present virtually).

As an exhibitor, we would strongly encourage you to think about all aspects of your participation at the meeting, including travel, stand materials and catering. With the British Association of Dermatologists continued efforts to promote and encourage sustainability across their ever-increasing programme of events, the 2022 Annual meeting in Glasgow is a perfect platform for Exhibitors to showcase not only their messages, but also highlight their own position on this incredibly important issue.

Many Venues, Suppliers, Exhibition Stand Designers and Contractors will already be aware of the importance of recycling and sustainability.

Here are a few simple elements which could be introduced to prospective designs;

- o Choose a long-lasting, reusable modular stand
- o Re-use bespoke elements for multiple shows
- o Lay fibre-mixed carpets that can be recycled, or put down carpet tiles that can be re-used
- o Choose other materials for your displays, such as plastics and cardboard, that can be recycled
- o Use timber and paper materials from well-managed forests (with Forest Stewardship Council approval)
- o Install low-wattage lighting or LED energy-efficient lighting
- o Use organic compound-free adhesives
- o Look for “green”, water-based paints

Also, where possible, try not to produce tons of printed marketing materials - email your brochure to potential clients or use scannable QR codes. Promote your green credentials and spread the word about sustainability!

The SEC Glasgow is at the forefront of promoting - and practising sustainability. Click on their website for more information: Responsible Visitor Charter | SEC
